STRAIN TALK

Durban Cookies

INDICA/SATIVA

THC: 20.8% CBD: 0.4%

Durban Cookies is a Durban Poison dominant phenotype of Girl Scout Cookies. It combines the complex flavors and beautiful appearance of Cookies with more creative, uplifting effects. The potent full body relaxation these strains are famous for is still very present, but with a more giggly, social and interactive side as well. These purple and green-flecked buds are a very pleasant smoke. The aroma is a sharp pine forest scent, with a complexity that hints at skunk and diesel. Inhaling Durban Cookies leaves no doubt that this cultivator carefully flushed his/her product to reveal the greatest array of flavors. It is smooth, and initially deeply hashy with a surprisingly tangy-sweet finish. Enjoy this strain's heady, relaxing effects that are calming to the mind and body. This strain is destined to be loved by creative patients who do not mind being a little spacey.

CULTIVATING WISDOM™

MAY CULTIVATING TIP

Preparation is Key!

If you are planting an outdoor garden this year, now is the time to get plants ready to go outside at the end of the month. It is important to make sure that they are on a similar light cycle to what they will experience outside. So if you are planting cuttings that have been on an 18 hour light cycle, start tapering them down to around 14 hours of light before you put them outside. Also, it is always a good idea to adjust them slowly to direct sunlight, first exposing them to only dappled light. Pruning early on in the plants' life cycles can increase your yield later on. Think about developing a consistent regimen for repelling insects, (organically if possible,) now, rather than combating the problem after pests have already settled in. Following these simple steps will lead to an abundant, healthy and delicious harvest!

Tip of the Month/Know The Law

Another Zero-Tolerance DUI Bill Targets Cannabis Users

Assembly Bill 2500 is another in a long line of zero-tolerance DUI bills that constitute intoxication by the mere presence of cannabinoids in the driver's bloodstream. There is no detectible amount of THC that is acceptable by the bill's standards. Although the bill also contains provisions for testing for prescription drugs, it is particularly problematic for cannabis users. This is because cannabinoids are detectible in the user's bloodstream long after the impairment caused by their effects has dissipated. Enforcing this bill would effectively make it illegal to drive for almost all medical marijuana patients all of the time, along with patients who choose to use more traditional prescription methods for relief. The implementation of AB2500 has no basis in science since such chemical tests have notoriously been shown to fall short in measuring actual impairment. However, all signs point to anti-marijuana advocates in government continuing to submit these senseless bills. For more information or to take action against AB2500, visit: canorml.org.
