PAIRING OF THE MONTH

Double-Dipped Herijuana and Pure Kush Natural Gold

Double-Dipped Herijuana flowers are a pine forest green hue imbedded with visible trichomes that is very enticing, and does not disappoint. This strain is a cross of Herijuana with itself that results in an ideal phenotype of the strain that is particularly relaxing and very sweetly hashy. Herijuana is a combination of Killer New Haven and Petrolia Headstash, making it an unusual mix of Kentucky and Afghani genetics. This strain was blended in Humboldt, where it has been cultivated for at least the past twenty years. Pure Kush is rumored to be a relative of both OG Kush and Hindu Kush, although specific genetics are unconfirmed. Therefore, combining an exceptionally premium CO2-extracted concentrate made from Pure Kush flowers with Herijuana-bred bud produces an exceedingly comfortable, lazy effect. This is the perfect combination for anyone who wants powerful pain relief and release of tension.

RECIPE OF THE MONTH

Extra Toasted Roasted Pumpkin Seeds

Ingredients:

1 ½ cups raw whole pumpkin seeds
3 tsp melted Suspiciously Delicious CannaButter
1 pinch salt,
Additional spices of your choice (optional)

Directions:

When you're done carving pumpkins for Halloween, don't just throw away your pumpkin seeds! Clean them up, and turn them into a delicious, medicated snack! Preheat your oven to 300°F. Put your ingredients in a medium bowl and toss or stir until seeds are thoroughly and evenly coated. Spread seeds in one layer on a baking sheet. Roast your seeds (stirring occasionally,) for 30 to 45 minutes, or until toasted to your taste. Remember to let this new holiday tradition cool before enjoying, as they will be very hot!

Tip of the Month/Know The Law

GET OUT YOUR VOTE!

Here are just a few good reasons for cannabis consumers to get their votes counted this November 4th!

- At least three locations in the U.S. are looking at legalization, (Oregon, Alaska and D.C.) The interest generated by these attempts may in fact affect the amount of similar legislation introduced to Californians in the near future.
- The officials that are running all have different values and party affiliations that could, in time, affect our legal access to cannabis.
- Similarly, the propositions and bills that are being considered in this election will influence cannabis consumers. One example of this is Proposition 47, which has implications for the severity of drug possession charges in California. Although it will not affect possession of cannabis flowers, it would be relevant for possession of many concentrates.
- There are several local measures directly related to marijuana throughout the state, and you may live in a county that is considering one of these.
- Did you know that any registered California voter can vote absentee by mail? This gives you time to vote when you want, and to do the research to vote how you want.

CULTIVATING WISDOM™

OCTOBER CULTIVATING TIP

Cannabis Care After Harvest

Your plants are huge and your buds are fat, but the work has just begun. The harvest season is rewarding, yet overwhelming for cannabis cultivators. The first step is to inspect the trichomes of your plants with a microscope. You are looking for a milky appearance in Sativas, and a more honey/amber color in the trichomes of Indicas. Somewhere in between is usually ideal for hybrid strains, although ultimately personal preference is most important. Dry your plants in a dark room that is kept around 60° to 70°F. You want cross-ventilation and an oscillating fan moving slowly and constantly. It is best to let plants dry for at least two weeks before beginning the curing process. This will help prevent mold, and preserve terpenes. Happy Harvest!
