RECIPE OF THE MONTH

Mexican Mota "Weed-ing" Cookies

Ingredients:

- 1 cup Natural Cannabis Co. CO2 Butter
- ½ cup powdered sugar, plus extra for coating cookies
- 1 tsp. vanilla extract
- 2 ¼ cups flour, sifted
- ¼ tsp. salt
- ¾ cup chopped walnuts

Directions:

- Set oven to preheat to 400°F, and grease a baking sheet; set aside.
- Cream butter, combining with the ½ cup of powdered sugar until fluffy.
- Stir in vanilla.
- Mix flour and salt.
- Gradually add dry ingredients to butter mixture.
- Stir in walnuts.
- Chill dough in refrigerator if necessary to form dough into balls that are approximately 1 inch in diameter, and place onto prepared baking sheet.
- Bake for 10-12 minutes, until cookies are golden.
- When cookies have cooled to a warm (not too hot,) temperature, roll them in powdered sugar until evenly coated.

*Disclaimer: Our new Natural Cannabis Co. CO2 Butter contains 2000 mg of THC per jar, is colorless and produces edibles that are not obviously medicated, so keep these treats out of reach of children and pets.

TIP OF THE MONTH/KNOW THE LAW:
State and County Cultivation Limits

Northern California is a relatively tolerant place when it comes to cannabis, and sometimes we forget that there are limitations imposed when it comes to cultivation. Although state guidelines permit only 6 mature plants per patient, certain counties are much more relaxed. Some individual cities have even enacted their own restrictions as well. Therefore, it's worth it to do some research before you begin your grow. The city of Oakland permits 72 plants per recommendation inside, and up to 20 outside. Sonoma County allows up to 30 plants in a 100 square foot area, while Mendocino County recently tightened regulations to permit only 25 plants per parcel, with an indoor parcel specification of 100 square feet. If you live in another county or a city like Healdsburg that places specific limits on growing in city lines, visit: canorml.org for more detailed information.

 CULTIVATING WISDOM™

MAY CULTIVATING TIP

TIME TO GO OUT

Your grow site is starting to look sun-drenched, and you're just itching to get your plants outside! Remember that it is safest to wait till at least the end of this month. Cannabis needs around 16 hours of direct sunlight during its vegetative stage to keep it from transitioning to the bloom phase too early, particularly if you are growing cuttings. Adjust formerly indoor plants to sunlight by letting them sit in dappled light for the hottest part of the day, so they do not get burnt. Plants outdoors can have huge yields when they have the space they need for their roots to spread out. This means that a large pot or even big raised beds can go a long way to an abundant harvest. Remember that your plants will expand exponentially throughout their grow phase if everything goes as planned; try to allow room between them to care for them as they branch out.
